NATIONAL PROGRESSIVE PARTY
CONVENTION OCCUPIES THE ARENA OF AMERICAN POLITICS.

ROOSEVELT IS READY

Leader Arrives to Take Charge But Did Not Attend Sessions
Today—Albert Beveridge
Gives Keynote Address.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Aug. 5.—The national progressive party took its place in the arena of American politics here today when its first national convention assembled in the Coliseum, where the republican national convention was held seven weeks ago. Col. Roosevelt sponsor for the new party arrived in Chicago this morning, but will not attend the first session of the convention. He will deliver his "confession of faith" tomorrow.

Former Senator Albert Beveridge of Indiana, was elected temporary chairman of the convention after Senator Dixon had called the association to order and the prayer had been offered. Senator Beveridge greeted with prolonged cheers delivered his keynote speech bristling with the most advanced ideas of progressivism. The floor of the big convention hall was crowded and the gallery slow to fill at first held but few empty seats when the convention got under way shortly before 1 o'clock.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived at 8:53 A. M. He was given an enthusiastic welcome and hurried to headquarters to the Congress hotel.

The crowd cheered as the colonel stepped from the train. He was received by a delegation of progressives headed by George W. Perkins and Gov. Hiram Johnson of California.

Col. Roosevelt's arrival on the scene of the first national progressive party's convention and as sponsor for the new third party had been impatiently awaited by delegates who had been filtering into the city during the past week.

Plans for the more important work had been more or less tentative awaiting the final approval of Col. Roosevelt. The matter of a platform had particularly been left in abeyance, and is view of Col. Roosevelt's statement on leaving New York last night that the convention must accept his views in full, if he was to be the nominee the leaders felt they had been wise in not taking the matter up in any definite shape.

Many of the delegates are in favor of emulating the example of the national prohibition party and making the platform the briefest sort of document containing the advanced declaration of principles in tabloid form devoid of all rhetorical embellishment. Colonel Roosevelt's announcement however, may change all of this or his "confession of faith" which he says must be accepted in all essential details and is publicly reported to contain more than 20,000 words.

There appeared to be no question among the delegates that Colonel Roosevelt would get whatever he wanted at their hands. His nomination had been dependent upon giving the new party an auspicious start, and if he desires to run on a platform based on the speech which he asserts may be turned termed "anarchistic" the progressives here are more than anxious to give it to him.

Col. Roosevelt will make his "confession of faith" at the convention Tuesday afternoon following the formalities of permanent organization. It had first been announced he would speak tonight, but inasmuch as Senator Beveridge as temporary chairman was to be a central figure in today's proceedings and had prepared a speech of some length, it was proposed that Colonel Roosevelt withhold his pronouncements until tomorrow.

The committee on platform as scheduled to be appointed today, but not to make a report until Wednesday. The committee will have to wait until Colonel Roosevelt speaks before getting down to business, for he has expressed a willingness to go before the committee or to give it access to an advanced copy of the speech upon which he proposes to appeal to the people.

Colonel Roosevelt has insisted that his speech precede the adoption of a platform. He also made another condition that his convention hall be equipped with a sounding board back of the speaker's platform in order that his voice might carry to the far corners.

This has been done. No attempt had been made up to today to crystallize sentiments on a vice-presidential candidate. There has been much talk among the delegates of naming Gov. Hiram Johnson of California, a republican, but if Colonel Roosevelt should finally determine that a democrat might increase the strength and add to the appeal of the new party ticket there is every reason to believe that his views will prevail.

General Luke Wright of Tennessee and John H. Parker of Louisiana, have been most frequently in this connection as democratic possibilities. An agreement appeared to have been reached last night however, to name Colonel Parker as permanent chairman of the convention and this was believed by many to mean his elimination from the ticket.

An outstanding feature of the progressive convention is the number of women delegates. It is certain in view of what Colonel Roosevelt already has said upon the subject that the suffrage plank in the new platform will be a strong one.

Standing in his auto in front of the hotel Col. Roosevelt said "I am very pleased again to be with you in Chicago, and this time at the birth of a party and not at the death of one. I am convinced the people will not stand for the convention of seven weeks ago especially as it was against the interests of the people. By November the men nominated at that convention will not be a factor in the race. The days of the corrupt political boss and the crooked financier who stands behind the boss and the newspaper owned by the boss and financier are over.

The channels of information have been choked by the opponents of popular government in the effort to prevent the people from finding out what we stand for. I intend to see that the facts are known and that the people find out what this government really is and decide for themselves what their government will be.

Those of you who wish to investigate the mortgages of the Chicago Record-Herald can find why the channels of information have been choked by the opponents of the people."

After continuing his speech Col. Roosevelt went to his headquarters, where he said he would remain all day consulting with the leaders concerning the convention. He said that he did not intend to go to the Coliseum today.

Governor Wilson Gives An Example

times Given to Newspaper Accounts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sea Girt, Aug. 5.—Governor Woodrow Wilson's entry into the political limelight with a squad of correspondents and telegraphers camped in the tents on the meadow near his cottage has given him a novel experience.

The governor remarked today that while he recognized the sincerity of most newspapers he could not understand some misrepresentation and inaccuracies.

"For example" related the governor laughingly, "When I was president of Princeton university I delivered an address in a certain city in which I said that public opinion was not developed in great congested communities. I said that public opinion was developed in the cross road store where the farmers sat around and chewed tobacco, spit into the sawdust and exchanged ideas.

"I added jointly that no matter what might be said against tobacco chewing it must be admitted that it made men think and that wherever you found men chewing tobacco together you found the real public opinion of the country.

"Imagining my horror when the newspaper the next day ignored the rest of my speech which I thought not without merit and gave prominence to what I said about tobacco chewing declaring in the headlines that I said tobacco chewing made thinkers."

The governor added that a big tobacco company also made a photograph of one of the newspaper reports and used it in their advertising stamping him "as a professor who advocated chewing tobacco to develop the mind."

"That is the sort of thing I think is wrong," said the governor, "and should in some way be made impossible for even though untrue I doubt if it was libelous."

Milwaukee, Aug. 5.—The Wisconsin Press Association met this afternoon in annual convention and will continue through tomorrow. The opening of permanent offices of the association in Milwaukee with a secretary in charge who will devote his entire time to the organization, was recommended by President W. H. Bridgman of Stanley, in his annual address.

Mr. Bridgman said the annual meeting offered the members the opportunity of getting together only once a year and many were unable to attend regularly. With the secretary in charge of a permanent office he said, regular periodical bulletins and letters could be sent out and this would bring the present members into closer contact and be the means of securing greater membership.

OKLAHOMA PRIMARY ELECTION TOMORROW

Interest Centers in Contest for United States Senatorship—Haskell
Opposes Senator Owen.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 5.—One United States senator, eight congressmen (under new apportionment), a state corporation commissioner, justices of the supreme court and the members of the 1913 legislature are to be nominated in the Oklahoma primaries tomorrow.

The most interest of course, centers in the contest for the United States senatorship. The senatorial vote is not a direct nomination, but it is an expression of preference to bind the legislature which next winter will name a successor to Robert L. Owen, who is a candidate for re-election.

Former Governor Charles H. Haskell is opposing Senator Owen for the Democratic nomination for the senatorship. The fight between the two was commenced as early as last December and has been extremely bitter. Five Republicans are contesting for the Republican endorsement for the senatorship. Among them is "Dynamite Ed" Perry of Okmulgee, who is regarded as the leader of the Roosevelt faction of the Republican party in Oklahoma.

All of the five representatives who now make up the Oklahoma delegation in the lower house of Congress are candidates for re-nomination. The three new representatives are to be elected as congressmen-at-large, because of the failure of the legislature to re-district the state. For the three seats there are a total of forty-four aspirants, including twenty-eight Democrats, thirteen Republicans and three Socialists.

Republican leaders of both factions are inclined to bury their differences, so far as the state campaign is concerned, in the hope that they may be able to elect a majority in one, if not both, houses of the state legislature. Both factions are eager to wrest the state from local control of the Democrats, believing this year home affairs are of more importance than getting into a factional fight over national matters that would be helpful to neither Taft or Roosevelt, inasmuch as Oklahoma's electoral vote is practically certain to go to the Democratic presidential nominee.

Deputy Rahmi of Salonika and Deputy Tahan of Albania drew revolvers in the course of the debate and were about to fire at each other when some of their colleagues intervened. David Bey, a Saloki deputy and minister of finance and of public works, vehemently attacked the cabinet, declaring it had shown a reactionary spirit and trampled on the constitution. The motion introduced by David Bey censuring the cabinet was passed by acclamation.

The chief aim of the association is to further plans for the construction of a highway along the Pacific coast from British Columbia to the Mexican border. Salazar Leads Force to Join Orozco
With Plan to Proceed to Sonora

—Americans in Flight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Juarez, Mex., Aug. 5.—Inez Salazar, the rebel leader, responsible for the dismantling of the American colonists, is heading for the border with his 1,000 rebels. On his way Salazar is destroying the Mexican Northwestern railway. In this way he hoped to delay pursuit by the two federal armies which temporarily pocketed him at Casas Grandes.

The oncoming insurgents will join their chief, Pascual Orozco, who with about 500 men remains here. Salazar's arrival at Juarez would combine practically all of the rebels operating in Chihuahua and the next problem would be to proceed successfully into Sonora, the border state, to the west where other rebel groups are operating.

On account of the scarcity of water supply the trip along the international line is almost impossible. The northern movement of Salazar's forces have not been agreeable to American capital.

"Conditions are deplorable; all is lost," wires Juan Amador, manager of the Corralitos Cattle company ranch, an American property to officials of the company at El Paso. The Northwestern railway is a Canadian and American joint owned railroad. It was reported that the rebels made a demand on the Pearson Lumber company for $100,000 with the threat that the plant of the company at Pearson would be burned if the money was not delivered.

Wandering over the plains somewhere between the Casas Grandes district and the American border are 100 Americans. They came from the colonies at Juarez and Durban. After sending their wives to El Paso they preferred the hardships of an overland journey of two hundred miles to the dangers of traveling by train through rebel territory.

With the safe arrival at the border of this group of refugees, practically all the American settlers will have quit Mexico, leaving behind their farms and homes.

WOOL TARIFF BILL WAS PASSED TODAY

Measure Adopted by Senate Today and Goes to President—Bill Was Vetoed Last Year.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The conference report on the compromise La Follette-Underwood wool tariff bill was adopted by the senate today 85 to 28. Six progressive republicans joined the democrats. The compromise bill goes at once to President Taft. It is identical with the one he vetoed in 1911.

Progressive Vote.

The progressives who voted for the wool tariff revision, were Senators Follette and Works, Senator Cummings was paired against the measure. He said that if free to vote he would oppose it because he believed the 29 per cent ad valorem duty on wool much lower than could be justified by a study of the tariff boards report.

Senator La Follette declared the tariff board's work had been shown to be "radically wrong," by experts who had analyzed it. The conference report was agreed to by the house Saturday.

La Follette's Resolution.
Senator La Follette today, by a resolution, proposed a radical change in the method of amending the constitution of the United States. By its terms a majority of the two houses of congress would have authority to propose a constitutional amendment or it might be proposed on the petition of ten states acting through their legislatures or through popular vote. At present the ratification of an amendment is required by three-fourths of the states acting through their legislatures.

"Liar," Says Cannon.
The lie was passed on the floor of the house today when former Speaker Cannon denounced as "unqualifiedly untrue," a charge by Representative Ernest of Alabama, democrat, that when speaker of the house Mr. Cannon deliberately had led his followers from the chamber to break a quorum and in that way defeat immigration legislation. Before impeaching Mr. Burnett's veracity, Mr. Cannon twice asked him to retract. There was no outbreak.

MACK GIVES STORY OF CONTRIBUTIONS TO CAMPAIGN FUND

Explains One Collection Made Contrary to Wishes of Col. Bryan
And Insists on Accuracy of Report.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Aug. 5.—Norman E. Mack, chairman of the democratic national committee in 1908, today told the senate committee investigating campaign funds of that year and also those of 1904, that the only contribution he could remember having rejected was that by Col. J. M. Guffy of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Report Was Correct.

Mr. Mack added that after Mr. Bryan had been defeated the campaign committee was several thousand dollars in debt and Col. Guffy's contribution was accepted.

The official report of expenditure which the committee filed at Albany in conformity with the New York state law, Mr. Mack said, was absolutely correct and covered every dollar contributed.

Against Bryan's Wishes.
"That is the only instance where I accepted money from a source where Mr. Bryan did not want it," continued Mr. Mack, "I did not think of betraying Mr. Bryan's confidence by getting money to pay bills."

Mr. Mack told the committee he wanted to correct an impression that only 25,000 persons contributed to the campaign fund of $629,000. He placed the number of contributions at about 100,000. In many instances a large number of persons contributed under a single name he explained.

In this connection he mentioned the contributions by his own newspapers, the Buffalo Times. Of the $9,000 given by that paper, Mr. Mack gave $1,000 while the balance was given by 1,200 or 1,300 persons in western New York. After Mr. Mack's testimony the committee adjourned indefinitely.

Important Foreign Relations Will Be

Paris, Aug. 5.—Raymond Poincaré, the French premier, started today for Russia surrounded by all the signs which usually accompany a great state pilgrimage. Near-eastern questions and the Franco-Russian naval convention, the signature of which by M. Poincaré in St. Petersburg will bring the whole of the fighting forces of the allies within the terms of an offensive and defensive treaty of alliance, are to be the main subjects of discussion between the Emperor of Russia, Sergius F. Sazonoff, Russian minister of foreign affairs, and the French visitor.

The most prominent feature of the visit will be the Franco-Russian naval agreement which will claim immediate attention. The eventual opening of the Dardanelles and the steps necessary for its accomplishment are to be discussed during the fourteen days' visit of Poincaré. It was pointed out here that this is likely to be the burning question in the settlement of the Turko-Italian war.

HARVESTER COMPANY DENIES VIOLATION OF THE ANTI-TRUST ACT

Answer and Denial of United States Government Filed by Company at St. Paul Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Paul, Aug. 5.—The answer of the International Harvester Company to the bill filed by the United States under the Sherman Anti-trust law was filed in the United States District Court at St. Paul today.

The answer denies specifically, all charges of restraint of trade, monopoly and unfair business practices. It alleges that prior to the formation of the company in 1902, the harvester business had been conducted in a wasteful manner, detrimental alike to manufacturers, retail dealers and consumers, that only the two largest manufacturers had profitable businesses, while the business of others was decreasing and becoming hazardous and unprofitable. The International Harvester Company, it is stated, was not an unlawful combination, but a new company formed, with ample capital, in order to secure large economies in the agricultural implement business, by producing more cheaply the raw materials, by enlarging facilities, and correcting wasteful methods of distribution, by expanding the foreign trade and by better organized experimental and inspection departments.

The company's commercial power has been used not only for the benefit of its stockholders, but also for the benefit of the farmers and dealers and of its employees; and the taking on of new lines of manufacture, such as gasoline engines, tractors, auto wagons, farm wagons, cream separators and manure spreaders, has resulted in the business as a whole being conducted more economically and in fostering instead of restraining trade, it is asserted.

Any monopoly through patents is denied on the ground that the basic patents on binders and mowers expired prior to 1902.

Statement of Earnings.

The detailed statement of earnings and profits contained in the answer shows that, during the first eight years, the dividends paid averaged only 3.92 per cent, on the fully paid capital stock and the total earnings only 7.15 per cent, and that the main expansion in the company's business has been gained in the new lines of implements and the foreign trade, which has increased from about $10,000,000 in 1903 to over $42,000,000 in 1911.

It is held that the company has active and increasing competition, the number of competitors in binders being eight, with an aggregate capital of over $100,000,000, and in other lines the competitors numbering from fourteen in mowers to one hundred eighty-one in gasoline engines.

The answer declares that the prices of harvesting machinery have increased about 3 per cent over 1902, while the machines have been improved in quality, and the materials and labor entering into their manufacture have increased on an average 25 per cent.

As to binder twine, the answer asserts that since the company was formed, the wholesale price of sisal twine has fallen from 11 to 6 1/2 cents a pound, and of manilla twine from 13 1/2 cents to 7 1/2 cents a pound; further, that the company has expended more than a million dollars in effort to produce binder twine from American-grown flax, which, if successful, would have kept within the United States twenty millions of dollars now expended annually for imported sisal and manilla fibres.

The answer alleges the company spends in developing and improving machines annually $500,000, a cost which none of the old companies would have sustained. By producing its own lumber, iron and steel, the company says it can select materials of the particular quality

AUTO OVERTURNS CAB; COLLIDES WITH POST

Vehicle of Alex Russell Turned Upside Down When Struck by Motor Car of George Drummond.

A cab belonging to Alex Russell was struck by the automobile of George Drummond at the corner of Wall and North Academy street late yesterday afternoon and turned upside down. The horses and driver were not injured and fortunately there was no passengers in the cab. The machine of Mr. Drummond was badly damaged the radiator being smashed in and lamps broken.

According to witnesses of the accident the cab was on the right side of the street. It had just turned off from Wall to Academy street and was proceeding toward Milwaukee street. Mr. Drummond did not notice the cab ahead of him until it was too late to stop, and the cab, which weighs 1200 pounds was quickly overturned. A few yards farther down the street Mr. Drummond's machine ran into a telephone pole, and was damaged still more. The cab had a hole punched through one door, the lamps smashed, whiffle tree broke, and the body badly wrenched and sprung.

Value of a Laugh.

When you go to visit the sick do not forget that a good laugh is one of the best tonics and a bit of humorous gossip or pliant saying is better than any drugs. Make the invalid smile if you cannot start up a laugh, but make your visit short; remember that too much of a good thing is as bad as too little.

Your Sickness or Disease Will Vanish When You Take The Right Adjustment

Many Sufferers From Hay Fever Have Found Relief in Chiropractic

YOU can't hope to overcome disease with force. It isn't natural. Disease is the result of a strain or shock to the nervous system of the spine. Hogsheads of medicine will not reach the seat of the trouble. You can poison your system with all sorts of noxious dope and have your ailment get worse instead of better. You can't expect anything else. The system isn't built to stand the vilest kind of poison. Chiropractic is the way to find relief from disease and pain. Hundreds have gone away from this office well and happy. "Wouldn't again go through the pain and misery I've felt for years for anything," is heard with variations very frequently here.

Hay Fever sufferers get almost immediate relief from Chiropractic. One case of over seven years standing was wholly relieved with a few adjustments. (name on request.)

When the spinal bones are out alignment, as illustrated herewith, you can't possibly be well. Not one person in one hundred has a perfect spine. You ought to have your spine examined today. Spinal analysis free.

ADVOCATE ADOPTION OF PLATOON SYSTEM

Wisconsin Paid Firemen's Association Sends Resolutions on Subject to City Council and Fire Chief.

The city council and chief of the Fire Department (Klein) today received copies of the resolutions passed by the Wisconsin Paid Firemen's association favoring the adoption of the two platoon system. Under the platoon system firemen would be on duty only twelve hours a day and it is contended that it is but little more expensive than the present one which keeps the firemen on duty twenty-four hours.

The resolution, which was adopted at the convention held in Wausau, July 24, reads as follows:

Whereas, Custom has established a system whereby paid members of the fire department have been compelled to be on duty practically all of the time; and

Whereas, For years, paid members of the fire department have been endeavoring to devise a system commensurate with the demands of fire duty, and fair to the fire-fighter; and

Whereas, Such system, popularly known as the Two-Platoon system has been devised, and under the most stringent action of partisan opponents proved beyond all protest that said system is far superior to present conditions, and likewise is fair and just to the taxpayers and the firemen, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Wisconsin Paid Firemen's association hereby heartily endorse the Two-Platoon system, and urge all firemen to unite in an effort for its general adoption by all paid fire departments.

HEAVY PASSENGER TRAFFIC ON NORTHWESTERN RAILWAY

Agent Alva L. Hemmens of the Northwestern railroad in this city reports that travel over the railroad on trains through this city to points north, east and west, is very heavy at the present time, especially to points on the North Pacific coast. August is the popular vacation month, and many people spend their outings traveling. For this reason it has been difficult to get berth reservations for local people leaving on trips, and it has been requested that those desiring reservations notify the agent eight or ten days previous to the time they expect to depart.

More than 30,000 people read the want ads every day.

There is a good colored gentleman in Covington, Ky., who will doubtless maintain a discreet silence from now on when the question of prize fighting is brought up and he happens to be in the presence of white folks. After the Flynn-Johnson battle, the other day this particular "colored" gentleman pleasantly addressed two white Covington citizens in this wise: "Well, white folks, how did you like the Flynn-Johnson fight? According to the police there was no reply from the white men, but instead one of them landed the negro a blow on the chin, and the next moment he went crashing through a large pane of glass. All three men failed on the charge of being disorderly.

If Ad Wolgast desires to hold the good name and fame which he has won in the years of his ring career he will be only too willing to accept the offer of Joe Rivers to try conclusions again in the near future. Wolgast may feel that he has everything to lose and nothing to gain by fighting the battle over again. Fans, however, will look at the case differently. Many of them will feel, if he refuses to fight again, that he is taking something that possibly does not belong to him. If he shows a willingness to meet the Mexican again soon, Cadillac farmer, no matter what the result of the second match may be, and the world's respect is worth more than a championship belt, any day.

After being "benched" for thirty-six years, the ball tossers who made up the "noisy nine" of Morgantown West Va., in the '70s are scheduled to reappear on the diamond in a reunion game to be played under the rules of a generation ago, Saturday July 13, at Taylorstown, near Morgantown. Every member of the old team will be on hand, even the old scorer and old umpire. The ball will not be hurled curving across the plate as in these modern days, but will be delivered with the under-hand swing—"pitched" and not thrown. The batsman will exercise the privilege of calling for a "high" or "low" ball and will not swing unless he gets one to his liking.

Athletics is a paying proposition at Yale. The various teams cleared $15,084 for the athletic association during the last year. The rowing and track teams were losers as usual, the former going behind $15,810 and $30 and the latter about $10,000. The football team, however, cost $15,810 to run the football team, and it earned $66,136. The total receipts for the year were $118,147.

Football at Yale, as well as at every other university, is the thing that prevents a yearly deficit. Had it not been for football at old Eli this year there would have been a deficit of over $5,000 instead of a good round surplus.

ASSOCIATION NINE STILL HOLDS LEAD

Parkers, Entertain Vain Hopes of Routing Leaders—Hansons Are Tied for Second Place in League.

| Standing of the Teams. | | | |
|------------------------|----|----|------|
| | W. | L. | Pct. |
| Y. M. C. A. | 8 | 2 | .888 |
| Parker Pen | 6 | 2 | .750 |
| Hanson Company | 6 | 2 | .750 |
| Machine Company | 6 | 3 | .666 |
| Northwestern | 5 | 5 | .500 |
| Recorder | 2 | 5 | .285 |
| Gazette | 2 | 7 | .222 |
| Lewis | 0 | 8 | .000 |

Hopes of the Parker Pen nine to pass their rivals, the Y. M. C. A., by defeating them in the game Saturday, faded into thin air and the association boys still hold the lead in the Commercial league race by a mere substantial margin. The score at the end of the seventh inning was 2 to 0, the Parkers failing to make their three hits earn a run. Bond was the heavy slugger for the Y. M. C. A. and his timely swats brought in the telling runs, a two-bagger in the fifth and a home-run in the seventh being checked to his credit. Abraham pitched great ball for the Parkers but was touched for four hits. Moon was on the mound in his usual form for the rival team.

With defeat for the Parkers and victory for the Hansons, the two teams are now tied for second place and with the Machine company continuing its winning streak the fight for second place will be as keen as that for first honors. The Northwestern nine was the means of the Hansons' team climbing Saturday. Heavy hitting and fast base running on the part of the cabinet makers resulted in a total of ten tallies for them while their opponents from South Janesville, counted but three.

Whitford, Northwestern; Clark and Wilson; Hanson, Connell and Doran; Machinists on Gail.

The Janesville Machine Company's team took an early lead in their game with the Lewis nine and had a margin of six runs until the seventh inning, when the score stood 8 to 2. The Lewis men started a rally in the seventh and with several costly bumbles by the machinists, succeeded in counting three more runs and the final score was 8 to 5 for the plow-makers.

In the final game at Athletic park the Gazette team was routed by the Recorder to the tune of 8 to 2. The east side printers were completely baffled before the puzzlers handed out by Whitford the Recorder recruit from the Tobacco city and cleaned but three runs while 17 strikeouts went to the credit of Whitford. O'Hara for the Gazette struck out 12, and allowed nine hits which were effective in swelling the score.

BARNEY'S COLTS VICTORS IN TEN INNINGS BATTLE.

Subdue Janesville All Stars by Score of 6 to 5 Yesterday Afternoon. Barney's colts, a team composed of La Prairie farmers, worked hard to defeat the Janesville all stars by the score of 6 to 5 yesterday afternoon. The colts had been subdued in a former contest with the all stars but succeeded in driving in the winning run in the tenth yesterday. Howard on the mound for the colts did brilliant work with sixteen strikeouts. Hennessey's sensational catch and quick throw to first for a double play was the feature of the game.

WHITE SOX DEFEATED STRONG TEAM FROM WILLOWDALE

Yesterday afternoon the Janesville White Sox added another victory to their long string when they defeated the strong Willowdale team at the latter place. By winning the game yesterday the Sox claim the amateur championship of the southern part of the state as they had a game scheduled with the Edgerton Sluggers, who refused to play. The game yesterday was a very easy victory for the Sox, the final score being 16 to 6. The Sox are ready to defend their title against any team in the state that are of the same age. They would like very much to schedule a game with Edgerton to be played any place they want to play. The line-up yesterday was as follows: Blaisdell, c; Britt, p; Stewart, ss; Stickney, 1b; Dalton, 2b; McGinley, 3b; Cronin, lf; McKeigue, cf; Porter, rf.

YOUNG NATIONALS ROMP AWAY WITH GAME SUNDAY

The Young Nationals had an easy time defeating the Rock Hill team yesterday, the score standing 10 to 1 at the close of play. Rogge in the box for the Nationals, was invincible, and was credited with twenty-one strikeouts. Buggs, pitcher for the Pirates, was the twirler for the Rock Hill team. Batteries—Nationals, Rogge and Spohn; Rock Hill, Buggs, Heltman, and Toldrean.

PARKER PEN BALL NINE DEFEATS STOUTINGTON TEAM

Roll Up Score of 2 to 1 in Closely Fought Game—Butters and Hall Battery For Parkers.

In a game which was closely contested throughout, the Parker Pen Company's nine yesterday defeated the Stoutington team at Stoutington by a score of 2 to 1. Butters and Hall were the battery for the Parker team and Stewart pitched for Stoutington. The Parker nine made its first score early in the game, was tied with Stoutington in the third inning, and ran in the final score later. The Stoutington team is considered one of the fastest semi-professional teams in the state.

THE ROOSEVELT GATHERING.

Today in Chicago a gathering of politicians, of former republican and democratic persuasion, have assembled for the purpose of forming a third national party dominated over and controlled by Theodore Roosevelt, a former republican party president and the defeated presidential nominee at the recent republican convention in Chicago. The movement has passed beyond the stage of ridicule and now assumes national importance. Its main object, if any object for the gathering can be really discovered, is the defeat of Taft and the re-organization of the old republican party. The leaders in this movement are for the most part men who are disgruntled at the present management of the republican party and a few democrats who have left their own party for the same reason. Disruption of great political parties are not unknown in history. We find the republican party organized in the Fifties of Free Soilers, Know Nothings and disgruntled Whigs and northern Democrats. Later came the Populist party, for the most part made up of former republicans, who while they carried some western states, failed at a national election. In 1872 we find Greeley deserting the old line republican party and becoming a candidate for the democrats, followed by numerous republican leaders who later were glad enough to creep back into the republican party and make their peace. Again in 1896 we discover the more conservative democratic leaders deserting the more radical Bryan party and holding a separate convention and nominating a separate ticket which cut considerable figure in the national election of that year. The same year saw republicans favoring the free silver clause of the democratic platform, deserting their colors to aid the cause of Bryan. The present movement for a third party is given wide publicity the country over. Some of the leaders who favored Roosevelt in the recent national republican convention, do not approve of the third party idea and will be absent from the Chicago gathering. While they may not support the republican national ticket headed by Taft, they will remain in the party to bring about what they call needed reforms. Meanwhile the followers of Roosevelt have gathered in Chicago and are about to launch a new national party into the political field. That it may defeat President Taft for re-election is a possibility, but it behooves all loyal republicans to remain true to their party allegiance and cast their ballot for Taft and the republican nominees.

A WARNING.

Voters are warned to take especial care what candidates they endorse for legislative office until they are certain that these candidates will work in their interests and not be led astray from the wishes of their constituents by the great cry of reform. Wisconsin is today in a crucial point of its industrial existence. Radical laws like the income tax and others equally obnoxious to industries and capital must be modified or eradicated from the statute books or manufacturing industries are to be compelled to leave the state. In Laurence Whitteit of Edgerton, candidate for the state senate from the 22nd senatorial district, the voters have a candidate they can depend upon to work in their best interests. A vote for Mr. Whitteit is self-protection of the state industries, including the financial interests of the farmers as well.

NEWSPAPERS AND NEWS.

During the past week, some of the leading journalists of this country and a large number of magazine writers and others met at Madison to discuss the burning question of the newspaper and the news. It was doubtless an interesting gathering and delighted the exploiters of the scheme immensely. In discussing some of the views expressed at the gatherings the Chicago Record-Herald handles the whole matter as follows: "At the national newspaper conference at Madison, speaking upon the subject of the impartiality of news reporting, a former editor of the Daily Socialist declared that society would never get impartial service from news agencies until classes have disappeared, and in the meantime the socialist press comes nearer furnishing impartial and truthful news reports than any other press.

"Both assertions are amusing. Class is an obsession with the socialist doctrine, but the idea that the emotions and prejudices which class unquestionably creates are the only serious defects in the glass we now see through darkly is as naive a piece of bigotry as one often encounters.

"Less ingenious though perhaps naturally prejudiced is the assertion that the socialist press now more nearly approximates fair report than the 'capitalist' press. If there is inflated partiality anywhere in American journalism it is in the socialist press. The yellow journal at its lowest never surpassed the wild yarns that frequently appear with all the positiveness of verified fact, and the general spirit of bitter partisanship that the socialist press shows in comment is itself evidence enough to any fairly open mind that its observation of facts cannot be clear, to say nothing of its report fair.

"No honest newspaper man will deny that inaccuracy, inadequacy, and bias are all to be found in the press. He will admit that the personal interests, the class prejudices, the selfish hopes, fears, ambitions of owners, of editors, of reporters, of all the human beings who make up that wonderful complex, the modern newspaper, result in partiality of report. It never will be, it never can be otherwise while men are human.

"No man is able to report the truth, no matter how deeply he may desire to do it. Any psychologist will prove that. This history of newspapers, who are all their leaders, are apt to forget. Carelessness is human as well as selfish bias, and even more plentiful, and what is usually suspected of being a sinister intention is usually the result of the inevitable defects of man's power to observe and to state.

"The American newspaper is more impartial, less partisan, more fair, and more efficient than ever. The tendency toward making it an institution instead of a personality is one which makes for steadiness, continuity, and responsibility. The tendency to make it a business proposition, while it has its discount, is not as superficially supposed, a tendency to make it venal. And the reason for that is simple and familiar. Honesty is the best policy. The newspaper that is unfaithful to the public interest, the interests of its readers as a whole, shrivels. A survey of American journalism today proves that. The newspaper is a private institution, and only so far as its ownership is concerned, and only so far. In all other respects it is a public institution, and therefore its private profit can never be contrary to its public duty. Papers endowed against the public interest lose their value for those who invest in them, because the public deserts them. There is only one way to make a successful and therefore an influential paper, and that is to make it do its duty."

SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR ALASKA.

There is a bill before congress providing that Alaska shall have a territorial governor and a legislative body for the enactment of laws dealing with its internal affairs. Such a bill, properly safeguarded, ought to be passed. It is high time that this much needed relief were granted to the big northwest territory. Alaska was a fine bargain for this country. When it was purchased in 1867, for $7,200,000, the price of a good downtown block in New York, Russia was obviously glad to get rid of it, and there was much grumbling among the people of the United States, even though they understood that the motive of the national government was to prevent England from obtaining control of any more of the Pacific coast than it already possessed. But the territory has prospered, since its purchase, over and above the price paid and the cost of government service, at least $410,000. And only the surface of a small part of its mineral deposits has been scratched. Private capital discovered that Alaska was a rich prize before the country and the national government realized the truth. Owing to its wealth-making opportunities and the powerful interests that seek to monopolize them, the territory presents intricate problems in government. Corporate greed must be held in check and the common American citizens given a chance. There is a

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

Though he is short on parlor etiquette and cats peas with his knife, Though he couldn't dance a two-step or waltz to save his life, He's the idol of adoring throngs of misses just the same, For he hits up near 300 in the great and only game.

With the parlor conversation he's as mum as any clam, But he's idolized as much as any William Faversham. He's as innocent of grammar as Josh Billings e'er could be, But he's never missed a grounder when 'twas needed, don't you see.

He is very short on Ibsen. Never heard of Henry James, If you'd speak to him of Maeterlinck he'd ask how many games Maeterlinck had ever played in. He is mighty shy on lore, But with three men on the bases he can pound out hits galore.

He has a country mansion and bangup touring car, And he travels 'round the country like grand opera's greatest star. He makes all the other idios look prosaic, quite, and tame, For he is this season's hero in the great and only game.

According to Uncle Abner.

A good poker player is born and not made. Men will never catch up with women in the good old art of sawing off a board with a pair of shears or a razor.

When a feller has got to have a lot of credit for everything he does, it is a cinch that he never does very much.

Hank Purdy is a Baptist by marriage. Personally he is, religiously speaking, Democratic.

Uncle Ezra Binks tells the weather by his corn. When his corn aches he says it is surely going to rain, and it always surely does rain—sometimes.

A feller hasn't reached the pinnacle of fame until somebody names a 5-cent cigar after him that nobody will smoke.

No feller kin work faster than a lazy man for a few minutes. There ain't nothing that looks more old-fashioned just now than a 1911 model automobile.

The Age of Woman.

This is certainly getting to be woman's age. They are rising in considerable population in Alaska now and it will increase constantly. Surely the people who live there are entitled to as much self-government as may be possible without jeopardizing national interests. And as surely they have a better understanding of their own needs and those of the territory than senators and representatives thousands of miles away, most of whom have never seen it. As for the "interests" that seek to seize Alaska's mineral wealth, the national government can continue to keep a strong hand on them, even with home rule established.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox says that marriage is the most important business in the world. The married man who fails to bring home a skein of silk that matches the sample in his pocket will heartily agree with her.

Whatever else it may do, the disclosure of the secrets of the New York underworld is bound to attract more visitors to the metropolis.

their might, and they are no longer to be considered as the oppressed. The other day in Los Angeles, Cal., a woman was criticized by her husband because she had not cooked the chicken right. What did she do? Did she go to her room and weep and threaten to go back to her mother? No, indeed. She grabbed a perfectly good $4 platter and smashed it over the head of her lord, and now he is in the hospital trying to figure out what happened. California, by the way, is a very poor state to start anything like that in, and husbands should take warning.

In staid old New Hampshire last week a husband arrived home and found his wife and five of her women friends enjoying a poker game, smoking cigarettes and mixing highballs. When he complained they locked him in the cellar and forgot him until morning, when the party broke up. A Missouri woman has just traded her husband off for a mule, and has set up in business for herself peddling tinware. The good old days are gone, and we fear, never to return.

What's the Difference.

It will not change my prospects, not so far as I kin see.

I haven't got a single hope or fear. Republican or democrat, I do not raise my voice.

REWARD FOR INFORMATION OF MISSING YOUNG MAN

Peter Hojengo, Thought Unbalanced From Over-study, Missing From Home in Oshkosh.

Peter Hojengo, a young man twenty years of age, has been missing from his home in Oshkosh since July 18, and Chief of Police Henry F. Dowling of that city has written the police departments of several cities informing them that a liberal reward is offered for information that will lead to his discovery. Hojengo is about five feet nine inches tall, weighs about 135 pounds, and has dark blue eyes, dark brown hair, and smooth face. He wore a dark blue serge suit and flat straw hat. Hojengo had in his possession a small nickel-plated open face watch with the name O. G. Lindner in the face. One upper front tooth is filled with gold and very noticeable. He is thought to have overtaken his mind with study at the normal school.

Silence is a mighty force. When rightly used it is one of the great powers of the universe. Silence distinguishes the forceful man. Speech is silver, but silence is golden. Functions of the Happy.

A happy man is a woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of good will; and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted. Persian Lamb Skins.

The trade in Persian lamb or astrakhan skins centers in Turkestan, and the traders of that country have the entire monopoly of it. They pasture the ewe lambs in immense flocks, and it has been found useless to try to acustom these animals to any considerable change of climate. If they survive elsewhere, the skin undergoes degeneration and the fur consequently becomes less valuable.—Harper's Weekly.

INCOME TAX BOARD ENDS ITS SESSIONS

Total Amount of Income and Corporation Tax Assessment for County Will Be Announced Soon.

Sessions of the board of review of the income tax assessment which were held during the past week in the jury room at the court house closed Saturday afternoon. The assessment roll has been reviewed by the board and complaints heard. According to the terms of the income tax law nothing which transpired in the sessions of the board shall be given publicity as all the members of the board and the witnesses before it are sworn to secrecy.

Income Tax Assessor F. A. Taylor said today that the total amount of the income tax assessment and corporation tax assessment for Rock county would doubtless be announced within several days. This information, he said, would come from the state tax commission at Madison as it would be a total figure containing both the income and corporation tax assessments, the latter being assessed by the state entirely out of the county's control. When asked if it were possible to give out the total amount of the income tax assessment for this county exclusive of the corporation tax, Mr. Taylor said he did not think it was customary to do so. In his opinion it would be a violation of the pledge to secrecy. This was also the opinion of County Clerk Lee who is ex-officio secretary of the board.

PLAYGROUND FUND IS DEPOSITED IN BANK

Greater Third Ward Carnival Company Makes Deposit To Start Civic Playground.

As a result of the three days of carnival held in the vacant lot on Jackson street last week, the managers of the Greater Third Ward Carnival company this morning deposited $14 in the Merchants and Savings Bank to be used for the benefit of a playground association. This is the first actual cash subscription that has been made to this fund and in order to increase it the managers have decided to hold two more evenings of entertainment, Tuesday and Wednesday of the present week. On Tuesday evening it is planned to hold a vaudeville entertainment, with various booths for refreshments, on the same lot where the carnival was held last week and negotiations are under way to secure the services of the Bower City Band to furnish the musical inspiration, in the shape of a concert before the entertainment. The entertainment planned will be most and interesting and should attract a large audience considering the cause for which the boys are working. Wednesday evening it is expected the Moose band will give a concert at which time the entertainment will be repeated with variations. Robert Carl, Maurice Weirick, Carl Frick, George Brown and Tracey Allen, who have charge of the affair, state the first part will be a girl's minstrel show with folk dances followed by an interesting folio of specialties. The funds raised will be deposited for the benefit of the playground fund and as there has been much talk on this subject it is expected many will attend the two entertainments planned.

Will Finish Bridge Floor by Saturday

Concrete Being Poured in Forms for Last Two Spans—Brick Laid on Three West Spans.

By the end of this week the floor and pavement of the new Fourth avenue bridge will be completed, according to H. H. Shumate, acting construction foreman for the Central States Bridge company in the absence of Foreman Cummings. The moving of the forms from the west spans to the two most easterly spans of the bridge was finished yesterday and today concrete is being poured into them. This will take about three days. Brick has been laid on three spans.

Upon the rapidity with which the city can make the approaches to the bridge possible depends the time when it can be opened to team travel. Foot passengers will be able to cross before the end of the week. No work will be done on the sidewalk until the roadway is completed.

The bridge company has sub-let to Cornelius Ous the contract for pulling out the piling in the race-way near the west approach. He has secured a big crew from the Hawthatha Springs, Bottling Works which is being used as a basis for operations. The piles, of which there are about seventy-five, will be drawn out with a hoist. After the structural work is finished the sheet piling about the abutments will be pulled out and the bridge will be given two coats of paint. By the last of the month it is expected that the bridge will be complete in every respect.

Foreman Cummings, since last Wednesday, has been at Hudson, superintending the preliminary work on a new bridge to be built across the St. Croix river.

MILWAUKEE ROAD HAS SHIFTED OFFICIALS

Filling Position of L. R. Clausen Causes Several Changes Along the Line.

Several changes in the operating department of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, which will take effect tomorrow and will take in the whole system, were announced yesterday. In filling the vacancy of L. R. Clausen, resigned, superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee division, a general promotion has taken place, while the work of several officials has been changed in order to lessen the responsibility of older men.

J. M. Oxley, for many years superintendent of the Des Moines division, has been appointed superintendent of the Chicago-Milwaukee division, one of the most important divisions of the system, to succeed Mr. Clausen.

R. P. Edson Succeeds J. M. Oxley.

R. P. Edson, assistant superintendent of the Iowa and Dakota division west of Sanborn, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Oxley. C. A. Anderson, chief train dispatcher west of Sanborn, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Edson. Mr. Corbett has been appointed to replace Mr. Anderson.

C. E. Corcoran, assistant chief train dispatcher has been made chief train dispatcher, to succeed Andrew Esse, who has been made train master of the Sioux City and Dakota division.

Milwaukee will be mostly affected by the changes, as the duties of several of the local superintendents have been changed, while several promotions and transfers have been made among local officials of the operating department.

McNaney's Duties Lessened.

B. H. McNaney, who has been superintendent of terminals at Milwaukee for years, has been appointed superintendent of the Northern division, running between Milwaukee and northern points. W. B. Hinrichs, superintendent of the La Crosse and Northern divisions, has been made superintendent of terminals.

According to local officials, the duties and responsibilities of Mr. McNaney's position were getting too great for the condition of his health, and it was decided to appoint him to a position where he would have less duties to handle. To accomplish this the superintendency of the La Crosse and Northern divisions was made two separate positions.

No appointment has been made for the position of superintendent of the La Crosse division.

See The Automatic Telephone

YOU are cordially invited to visit the demonstration of the automatic telephone which has been installed in the south half of Putnam's Furniture and Crockery store, south Main street. This is the latest thing in telephone service and is very popular wherever it has been installed.

No Operators Are Required

Subscribers do their own calling and an automatic machine at the central office connects you with the party wanted. Or if his line is "busy" it tells you so by an automatic signal.

1. You get instantaneous connection.
2. You get instantaneous disconnections.
3. You get absolutely secret service on individual lines.
4. You get no wrong number.
5. No double connections.
6. No false busy signals.
7. No interruption in connection.
8. No premature disconnections.

The automatic neither sleeps nor eats. It is on the job 24 hours of the day. It performs its duty without a murmur.

The Automatic Telephone System has lately been adopted by the English government after several months spent by government engineers investigating all available systems. It has been in operation in many cities of the U. S. for the past 10 years and gives universal satisfaction.

We Want You To Come And See It Work And Work It Yourself.

It is a marvelous machine and will certainly interest and cause you to wonder. We especially want all of our subscribers to visit the exhibit and after seeing it work, if they desire us to install the Automatic Telephone, and are willing to pay the very small additional rental that will be necessary, we wish to favor them. The exhibit will be open evenings.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

YOUNG-MAN-PROUD-OF-HIS-WIFE.

A YOUNG man who had just been married went into a big newspaper office in a city near his home town and asked the editor to announce the portentous fact of his nuptials in the paper. His face was shining with pride and happiness, and after he had given the editor the item he wanted printed, he went out into the anteroom, brought his wife into the editorial sanctum and announced with infinite pride and delight to the editor, and two or three reporters who were standing by, "This is the wife. I thought perhaps you'd like to meet her."

Of course, the newspaper men were vastly amused at the naive pride of the young benedict. They joked about him and mimicked him all the evening, and one of the would-be wits wrote a would-be funny story about the incident, which appeared in the paper the next morning.

In this story the enthusiastic groom was called young-man-proud-of-his-wife. It was meant as a term of derision. To me it seems like a beautiful title. I have often wondered if the young bride saw the story and if she were ashamed. I sincerely hope not, for I think she had far more reason to be pleased and touched.

There is a young man in our neighborhood who is sometimes ridiculed because he is so proud of his wife that he is always singing her praises and making opportunities to introduce her to all his acquaintances. They say even the wife herself is sometimes embarrassed by his open admiration. Foolish woman! She little knows how fortunate she is and how many wives there are who would gladly suffer some of that embarrassment, and not call it suffering by any means.

It seems to me that this pride which a young wife or husband or a lover feels is one of the most beautiful things in the world, instead of the most amusing. I like nothing better than to find a man or woman who feels that way.

Do you remember how Corps of Sentimental Tommy fame is so elated when Gavina finally says she will have him that he visits all the neighbors for miles around, crying at each door, "I just cried in to tell you that Gavina says she will have me." Gavina was at first very much ashamed when she heard of this, but wiser Grisel thought it was "just sweet."

So do I.

There are many people who consider the pride and devotion of lovers and young married folks something vastly amusing. Poor people! How unlucky they are not to be able to recognize beauty when they are fortunate enough to see it!

Getting Ready for Vacation

"I'm so dead tired," said Dolly, as she sat down to dinner. "And there's a whole lot of little things to do yet. Won't you help me, John?"

John sighed. "I suppose so," he replied. "But why don't you get somebody in to help? I've been working hard all day."

"So have I," said Dolly.

"Well, what do you want done first?" asked John, when dinner was finished.

"You might roll up those rugs in the hall. I am afraid moths will get into them, with the house all shut up and nobody here."

John slowly took off his coat and began.

"What next?" he asked, when the rugs were disposed of.

"We'll have to cover up the furniture, it gets so dusty."

"Thunderation!" exclaimed John. "You might think we were going to be gone a year."

"But we don't want everything spoiled when we get home."

"Next?" said John, when the last task was completed.

"We'll have to bring in the porch furniture and the swing."

"Say, is this a moving?" demanded John.

"Now, dear," expostulated Dolly. "You know we couldn't leave those things out. They'd be stolen."

John dragged the porch furniture in. When he had finished he sat down on the hall steps and mopped his brow.

"You ought to get a man to do the work," he said.

"I have a man," responded Dolly, "and a nice one."

At this John chirped up a bit and rose, ready for the next task.

"Now we'll have to take the cat over to Osborne's, and you might tell them they can have the things out of the garden while we are away. That'll pay them for looking after Fluff. And Mrs. Osborne said she would look after my flowers, too. So they'll have to be carried off."

"For the love of Mike!" exclaimed John, sitting down again. "Do you think I'm a moving van?"

"I know it's a lot of work, dear. But then think! You'll have two whole weeks to rest."

"I'll need it," said John.

Fluff, probably scenting trouble, refused to be caught. John and Dolly chased her from cellar to garret and back again, and finally hauled her from under the chiffonier in the spare room.

"Now, there's only the trunk to pack," volunteered Dolly, when John returned from the last trip to the Osbornes.

"And it's midnight," growled John. "I'm glad vacation only comes once a year." Viciously he threw things into the trunk, jammed down the lid, tugged at the straps and at 2 A. M. announced it done.

"Oh, John! I'm so sorry," said Dolly, coming down stairs. "But here's your dress suit. I overlooked it, and you'll have to have it."

With a groan, John stood and looked at the locked and strapped trunk. Then slowly he opened it. He hung the suit on top of the tray.

"Now make sure there's nothing more," he said. "For I'm not going to open this trunk again."

At 3 A. M. he crept wearily into bed. "I'd rather not have a vacation," he said, "than work this way."

"But suppose we had a lot of children to take along," said Dolly. "Think of the work then!"

"We wouldn't go," replied John. "Maybe they'd be a good thing."

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

should not be removed from the boiling water until the moment they are to be filled with fruit, and the work should be done in a well swept and dusted room.

Fruit should never be cooked in tin or iron vessels; the kettles should be broad rather than deep, so the contents will cook evenly. There are many new utensils on the market designed to help the housewife; whether or not they fulfill their object each woman must decide for herself. Personally, a good sized kettle, a skimmer, a funnel, a strainer, a masher and a long-handled spoon are all that I care to manage. When canning a fruit boiler is a great convenience, but thousands of women place a willow or wooden rack in the bottom of a flat boiler and "make it do." A frame to hold the flannel straining bag, a strup gauge and a glass cylinder and a fruit pricker are necessities, of course, for jelly making and preserving.

Three methods of canning are recommended by the government bulletin; stewing the fruit before, it is put in the jars; cooking the fruit in jars in boiling water, and cooking the fruit in jars in the oven; they prefer the last method, but each housekeeper must decide for herself which is the easiest way for her. To cook the fruit in the oven first, cover the bottom of the oven with a sheet of asbestos—it only costs a few cents, and may be used many times when it is desirable to protect food from too strong bottom heat. On the asbestos place the oven rack so the heat may circulate about the jar. If the asbestos is not to be had, put a shallow pan containing about two inches of boiling water in the oven.

Sterilize the jars and utensils, prepare the fruit as if for cooking in an open kettle; pack into the hot jars and fill with a boiling sirup, the thickness of which will depend on the use to which you intend to put the fruit. If it is designed for preserves and table use the sirup should be heavy enough to sweeten it properly; if the winter pies and other cooking a very thin sirup may be used; indeed fruit intended for cooking purposes need not have sugar added to it, instead the jars may be filled up with boiling water.

Place the filled jars on the asbestos in the oven or in the water; have the oven moderately hot, close the door and cook ten minutes. Remove from the oven and add enough boiling sirup to all the jars to the brim. Dip the rubbers, which must be new every season, into boiling water, wipe the jars, put on the lids and seal tight. If screw covers are used it will be necessary to fasten them tighter after the fruit has cooled and the jars contracted.

The following old formula for canning small fruits is simple and may be depended upon:

Cherries—Six ounces of sugar to a quart of fruit; cook seven minutes.

Raspberries—Four ounces of sugar to a quart of fruit; cook six minutes.

Blackberries—Six ounces of sugar to a quart of fruit; cook six minutes.

Currents—Eight ounces of sugar to a quart of fruit; cook six minutes.

Pineapples (diced)—Six ounces of sugar to a quart of fruit; cook 15 minutes.

Gooseberries—Eight ounces of sugar to a quart of berries; cook 10 minutes.

The time given in this table is for fruit cooked in water bath; in the oven ten minutes or longer is required.

Label the filled jars before putting away and state on label whether fruit is sweetened or not and the date thus: 7-5-12. Raspberries and currants sweetened. If the fruit is kept in a dark closet, as it should be, this simple label will save time and patience when you are ready to use it.

The KITCHEN CABINET

EVERY task wrought out in patience brings a blessing to the door. Joy comes to the waiting worker, But eludes the swift pursuer.

FROZEN DISHES.

There is no dessert which ever takes the place of ices and ice creams during the hot weather; they are not only refreshing but nourishing, and are so universally well liked that one cannot go amiss to serve them on all occasions.

The plain Philadelphia ice cream may be used as a foundation for any number of delightful combinations, for example:

Nougat Ice Cream.—Add a half cupful each of chopped almonds, walnuts and almonds with a teaspoonful each of almond and vanilla extract. One can buy the plain cream all frozen in many places so reasonably, and it can be repacked with any additions of fruit or nuts, making the work very light.

The flavor of peach is given by putting two cups of strained peach pulp and a teaspoonful of lemon juice to plain ice cream.

A delicious flavor of almonds is given to ice cream in this manner: Blanch and chop a cup of almonds, caramelize four tablespoonfuls of sugar and add the almonds. When cold grind to a powder, add to the cream with a teaspoonful of almond extract.

The most delicious of creams is made by adding two cups of squeezed and strained raspberries to the cream. The color is enhanced by the addition of a teaspoon of lemon juice.

A pretty and easy way to make fancy dessert is raspberry bombe: Line a melon mold with raspberry ice and fill with vanilla ice cream or with a pineapple ice or ice cream. Pack in ice and salt and let stand four hours. Serve with whipped cream or garnish with fresh berries and leaves.

Sultana Roll.—This is a great favorite and can be made without the use of liquor. Line one pound baking powder cans with pistachio ice cream (this is plain cream with the chopped nuts frozen in it). Sprinkle with candied fruit that has stood over night in sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Pack as usual. Serve with the sauce in which the fruit has stood over night.

Heart and Home Problems

by MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am going to be in a town where there lives a boy friend of mine, just my age, eighteen. I have to wait there between trains and I have would like plenty of time to visit him, but I don't know his parents. Please tell me if I should write him that I am coming or should I go straight to his house when I get there?

ELIZABETH.

Write him that you are going to be in his home town, giving the time you expect to arrive. He can meet you at the station and take you to his home and introduce his parents to you.

It would be very bad taste to go straight to his home without being acquainted with his parents.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have some chickenpox marks on my face and shoulders. What will take them off?

GERTIE.

They will probably disappear in time, but you can massage them with a good cold cream two or three times a day.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am going to visit my parents in the small town where I used to live, and my "intended" wants to go along with me. He suggested that we travel together, but as we will be a night on the road I don't think it is just proper. What do you think about it?

M. C. L.

I do not quite approve of your taking the long journey together. It would be entirely unconventional, and the conventions are all for the benefit of women.

If he accompanies you, he should, of course, see to it that his Pullman section is not in your car. But suggest to him that you would like to spend a day with your parents all alone, without even him around to spoil the delusion that you are a little girl again, and he will probably offer to take the train the following day.

DRIED EGGS MAY BE USED FOR COOLING?

Department of Agriculture At Washington However Warns House—Against Using Spoiled Ones.

Janesville housewives will be most gratified to learn that the Department of Agriculture has issued a statement dealing with dried or frozen eggs and their use in food products. Good eggs may be so treated, says the department, and used for food without injury to health. The statement reads as follows:

"Frozen and dried eggs intended for human consumption are largely used for cooking purposes where inferiority may be concealed, as in baking cakes or making custards, omelets, pies, etc. The traffic in eggs sold for frying and freezing has greatly increased in the last few years.

Reason for Practice.

"Strictly fresh marketable eggs in the shell command a high price and there is difficulty in meeting the demand for them, but large quantities of questionable eggs, often bought at very low prices, have been broken out for cooking purposes by disreputable firms, being preserved by freezing or drying until ready for use. Some dealers, however, manufacture a satisfactory product by the use of good eggs handled under proper conditions.

When Not Injurious.

"There is no objection to drying or freezing good eggs under proper sanitary conditions; in fact, there are some advantages to be gained by preserving eggs in this manner, although the manufacturing processes devised by man as a rule do not improve the quality of nature's work.

"Conditions of modern life and commerce must, however, be met, and dried eggs or eggs in a frozen condition may be shipped long distances and require less space for transportation and storage than do eggs in the shell."

ANNOUNCEMENT

By LESLIE D. SMITH, M. D., D. O.

When I was asked to take charge of this Department, I did not give it serious consideration, at first, but as I thought of it more and more, the possibilities of it began to dawn upon me. Here was an opportunity to serve the public in a unique way; to assist in the great educational movement for the betterment of public health and the prevention of disease.

This movement, received the endorsement of the American Medical Association at its annual meeting, last June, in Los Angeles.

The president of the association, Dr. John B. Murphy, is quoted as saying: "The education of the public is the most important obligation of this association."

Dr. Rosalie Slaughter Morton, chairman of the Public Health Education committee of the Council on Health and Public Instruction of the American Medical Association, in her report says: "The criticism is constantly made, not only by the laity, but even by members of our profession, that physicians do less than any other class of people in the present world-wide social evolution for higher standards of living."

"Colleges, churches, settlements, prison reform associations, the Consumers League, the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations, the anti-tuberculosis, the child hygiene and all other movements of the last thirty years are credited to public-spirited members of the laity, whereas as a matter of fact, physicians are among the most active and effective workers in all these and many other, constructive lines of activity."

Prominent physicians, such as Dr. Woods Hutchinson, Dr. W. A. Evans, Dr. Frank Lydston, Dr. Mary Bissell, Dr. Adelaide E. Brown, Dr. Caroline Hedger, are all active workers along this line.

In the last two or three years we have heard a great deal of talk about conservation. Conserving the forests, conserving the coal lands, conserving the lands available for farming; and all this is being done for the benefit of generations yet unborn. And this is right; it is as it should be. But how about conserving the health of the nation? Isn't this as necessary as conserving the wealth of the nation? especially by starting with the children.

The answer is obvious. Millions are spent by the government every year to teach the farmer how to grow better corn and better pigs; to teach the fruit grower how to grow better fruit; but not one million is spent by the national government to teach the people how to grow better citizens. It seems to me as important to raise the quality of citizens produced, as it is to raise the quality of farm products.

Based upon the annual report of the Bureau of Census, it is estimated that about 600,000 people die annually in the United States, from preventable diseases. Calculating each life to be worth $3,000.00 (this being the average amount allowed by the courts), we see that it figures on the stupendous sum of $1,800,000,000.44. The loss to society is incalculable.

The following diseases are conceded to be preventable:

Typhoid fever,
Malaria,
Smallpox,
Diphtheria,
Yellow fever,
Tuberculosis, and Bubonic Plague.

The tendency of the practice of medicine is toward the prevention of disease to our detriment in its incidence. It is now considered better practice to prevent a disease than to treat it successfully after it is well established.

People should and will in the near future, pay their physicians, better fees, and do it more cheerfully, for preventing an illness than for treating it after it has gained a hold upon them.

It is infinitely better to prevent a disease than to have it successfully treated after the attack is well established.

No matter how trivial an illness may be, the resistance of the body is not so great after, as it was before. Therefore, the greater and more prolonged the illness, the less power of resistance the body will have to fight off other diseases.

This department will in no way antagonize your local physicians in the legitimate practice of their profession, no matter of what school of practice they may be.

I can assure you that I am in sympathy with the work of all conscientious, hard working physicians, for I myself earn my bread and butter by the practice of my profession. It will be my aim in preparing these articles to use plain simple English, and to avoid, as much as possible, the use of technical words and phrases.

We want our readers to ask questions—real, live, interesting questions, and suggest topics they would like to have discussed.

You will readily understand, that to write an article every day, that is at once entertaining and instructive, is no little undertaking. So, if it times I seem dull and uninteresting, I would ask you to bear this in mind: the most brilliant men are not brilliant more than two hours out of the twenty-four.

I wish to make this department comprehensive, in that I will feel free to discuss any topic that has a bearing upon the health and welfare of the public in general. I shall attempt to present facts as I have found them, and as the latest research and experiment in medical science has proven. I feel sure that the ultimate result of these articles will be far-reaching, and of great benefit.

CHRIST UNCHANGING; ALWAYS WITHIN REACH

GOSPEL MESSAGE CONVEYED BY THE REV. C. J. ROBERTS IN EVENING TALK.

MATERIAL IS UNSTABLE

Unceasing Change Rule In Physical
World—Jesus Christ Constant
As Friend And Saviour.

"Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today and forever."

These comforting and reassuring words, taken from the thirteenth chapter of Hebrews, the eighth verse, were the text and the heart of the gospel message given by the Rev. C. J. Roberts of the United Brethren church in his Sunday evening sermon.

"It is very evident," said the Rev. Roberts, in introducing his subject, "that change is stamped upon everything earthly. Changes are constantly taking place in the material world and universe. Nature is continually changing. Flowers blossom forth at one season of the year and after yielding their fragrance and beauty fade away to leave but dry and lifeless stems and petals.

The seasons are forever changing. autumn succeeds summer, winter autumn, and with spring, the cycle begins again. No two sunrises or sunsets are alike.

"Society is continually undergoing transformation, so rapidly that many of us are unable to keep up with the new habits of thought and practice and become 'old fogies.'"

"The church too, shares in the change; the church universal, the denomination, and the local church. With the ranks of the members, and calls the people out of the pulpit. People move from one community to another, and we are troubled to find out how to adjust ourselves and the work of the church to the changes.

"Old scenes and associations fade and pass away. What was once the old homestead passes into the hands of strangers and when we return we find no more the spirits that once hallowed the spot to us.

"When we look at this side of the picture it is no wonder that a tear finds its way to the eye. The realization of ceaseless and inevitable change brings pangs of sorrow and disappointment.

"And yet who would have it otherwise? Who would want every day just alike, every sunrise or sunset identical. It is change that gives variety and spice to life, though it often brings sadness in its train. Change is the price of progress.

"What mother would have her child always remain an infant; never learn to speak, to walk, or grow to maturity. Although she is pained at the thought that sometime the child will grow up and leave home, her real and abiding joy is in its growth and development.

"If these words which I have read concerned nature and physical and material life, they would be sad words, indeed, but happily they are spoken of Jesus Christ. Nature may change, but Christ may change, but Jesus Christ has always remained the same. This is what brings real and abiding comfort to the heart troubled by the inconstancy of friends, the unfaithfulness and coldness of those on whom it has looked for help and encouragement.

"Jesus Christ is a friend who is constant, unchanging, ever ready to comfort, strengthen, and sustain. You may change, prove false to your vows, break his commandments, and yet his love and sympathy and grace, but he is always at hand to heed your call, extend forgiveness, and offer his divine help and salvation.

"In order to learn what Christ is, we need only to learn what he was; to learn what he did when he was up on earth, and what men sought and found in him."

"Christ was always approachable. Sinners may come to him as readily and surely as the child that is hurt comes to its mother for sympathy and for healing. The child comes in full confidence; it entertains no doubt of its mother. Thus we should come to Christ when we are afflicted with temptation or sorrow. Sad indeed is the one who seeks help in every place else but from the strength of Christ.

"One of the worst curses of the modern home is to place the care of children entirely in charge of a nurse. The child never learns to know its mother, and grows up without knowing the deepest joys and childhood, as well as the instruction and training which no one else is prepared to give. The child's loss is irreparable.

"There never was a sign of 'No Admittance' on the door where Jesus Christ stayed. Even then solitude of his disciples could not keep the heart hungry from gaining access. He rebuked his disciples when they would prevent little children from coming to him; he welcomed and healed the blind men; and granted the petition of the lowly Samaritan woman. When the disciples, troubled and in great fear from the violence of the sea woke him out of his sleep, he rose and subdued the storm. The heavy hearted, the halt, the blind, the hungry, were always received by him, and he had succor for those tired of the dry husks of formalism. Christ is just as approachable tonight as he was in those days.

"I have great pity for those who think they can not reach the ear of Jesus without a mediator, who do not know how near and approachable he is. They miss infinite consolation, and a wealth of sustaining power.

"Get into closer touch with your God. Call upon him in the hour of temptation. Ask for his strengthening power. Live in closer proximity to him, and if you have accepted his salvation you may enter eternally without fear and with full assurance of respite from sorrow and all the cares of the world."

Common Difficulty.

The common difficulty of all such as work for their fellow-men is the temptation to discouragement.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

CLOSETS.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

A CLOSET is a place where people secrete long, nervous articles of dress, along with an assortment of dry goods, notions, boots and shoes and shelf hardware.

The average closet is built along such generous lines that a long-legged man can easily crawl into it head first and turn around the first time by tying himself into the form of a capital and rolling over rapidly.

Closets are usually flooded with light from some tungsten lamp hung out in the hall, aided by the pale effulgence from certain filmy robes of night which we are not able to pronounce.

Clothing hung in a dark closet never stays in one place long enough to allow a man to find his peignoir. This is a French word, which must be looked up to be appreciated. It is a coarse expression, and refined people do not use it oftener than once a day.

You can hang the baby's night-dress in one of these humid closets, on the first nail to the right, and by bed-time it will have worked its way around to the last nail in the south-west corner, under a pink kimono, four princess slips, a lace-yolked tea gown and a full set of imported lingerie.

There is nothing more pathetic than the spectacle of a near-sighted husband groping his way from hook to hook in a cavernous closet, trying to locate something his wife knows she put there the day before yesterday. Nine times out of ten it will be found on the center table down stairs.

Some day closets will be constructed so that people won't have to back out of them over the mute remains of ostracized boxes. The modern closet will also have a card index system, which will enable a man to find his last summer's vest without paying his way through four feet of silk vestments.

If some women had a closet in every room as big as a corn crib, they would still have to hang the overflow on the sewing machine.

ENGAGEMENT OF LESTER DUNLAP IS ANNOUNCED

Rockford Young Man, Formerly of This City, Engaged to Miss Idelle Burdette of Chicago.

Announcement has been made in this city of the engagement of Miss Idelle Burdette of Chicago to Lester L. Dunlap of Rockford, formerly of this city. Miss Burdette is the daughter of John W. Burdette, 6510 Harvard avenue, Chicago, and is a niece of Robert J. Burdette, preacher and author, of Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Dunlap is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark C. Dunlap of Rockford, who for a number of years made their home in Janesville. He has many friends in this city. He has been employed for three years past with a jewelry firm in Rockford, but leaves soon to take a position in Chicago. The date of the wedding has not been announced.

Another variety of fungi found was the stately sheathed Amanitopsis in its three well known local varieties with orange, white and brownish caps. This mushroom is generally avoided by persons not sufficiently expert in mycological lore to separate it with certainty from its near relatives, the poisonous Amanitas.

Other mushrooms collected were the wineglass clubmoss, the little wrinkled panicle, the choice cake mushrooms Schweinitz, Thelephora, the silky Volvariella, the wormy Boletus, the abrupt Agaric, the meadow mushroom and many other species of lesser note. Some fine specimens of the white Deadly Amanita were also found. Of the reddish Amanita several examples were collected.

From now on, unless that temperature become too hot and dry, local mushroom collectors should have little difficulty in supplying their tables with delicacies of the mushroom kingdom.

MUSHROOM LOVERS FIND MANY FUNGI

Recent Showers Have Brought Forth
Unusual Supply of Various Varieties.

Mushroom lovers are rejoicing over the appearance of many various varieties of edible fungi since the recent rains and appearance of the cooler weather. Care should be taken however by enthusiasts not to gather the poisonous variety as many of these have also made their appearance and for those not thoroughly versed in the tests and general appearance of the fungi extraordinary care should be taken in making selections.

Several gentlemen versed in mushroom lore made a trip through the surrounding woods and countryside Saturday and found many varieties.

Russulas in bright red and purple colors were found in greatest abundance with an occasional green Russula thrown in for variety. Here and there in the grass, were obtained in groups of four or more, the yellow chantarelle, more commonly known as the "butter-and-egg" mushroom. It has a noticeable apricot odor and has been found since the earliest times as the most delicious of fungi. Several fine specimens of the cone-like Boletus which has a cap covered with large hairy blackish scales were collected. The close resemblance in its cap and stem to the woodland debris of dark old stumps and branches causes this edible mushroom to be easily missed by collectors.

Another variety of fungi found was the stately sheathed Amanitopsis in its three well known local varieties with orange, white and brownish caps. This mushroom is generally avoided by persons not sufficiently expert in mycological lore to separate it with certainty from its near relatives, the poisonous Amanitas.

Other mushrooms collected were the wineglass clubmoss, the little wrinkled panicle, the choice cake mushrooms Schweinitz, Thelephora, the silky Volvariella, the wormy Boletus, the abrupt Agaric, the meadow mushroom and many other species of lesser note. Some fine specimens of the white Deadly Amanita were also found. Of the reddish Amanita several examples were collected.

From now on, unless that temperature become too hot and dry, local mushroom collectors should have little difficulty in supplying their tables with delicacies of the mushroom kingdom.

THE ONLY REASON

for the presence of the "Want Ad" page in this paper is the fact that it is profitable for the advertiser. Scores of the people who have their wants listed there today are regular patrons of the page. Would any one continue their use after a fair trial unless they were getting results?

If it is a profitable page to the average person, as it is, why should it not be for you? Want advertising can help you whatever your business. There seems to be no limit to the variety of wants that can be found among the "Classified columns." Whatever your want, whether it be something to buy or sell, something to exchange; something to lease; perhaps you want work or to hire new employees, wherever it may be; it will not be out of place on this page, and will find eager readers.

Don't Drink Common Beer in Light Bottles Drink Schlitz in BROWN BOTTLES

You wouldn't think of drinking impure water.

Why not be sure you get pure beer? If you drink beer from a light bottle that has been exposed to light, you are not sure.

Light starts decay, even in pure beer.

Schlitz is brewed in the dark, aged in glass-lined steel-enameled tanks. Every tub, vat and tank is scalded every time used. Every bottle is sterilized after it is sealed. Even the windows in our bottling plant are of brown glass.

The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
It will be well for you to refrain from too much gaiety or social pleasures, and give your attention to things of more importance. Otherwise you may lose something which you value highly. Changes do not promise favorably for you.

Those born today will be quick and clever, but a natural lack of sincerity may work against their success; unless early understood and eradicated.

Petroleum Carbon is Being Used in Hundreds of Homes As An Economical Fuel

MADAME, ARE YOU USING IT AS A MEANS TO SAVE MONEY?

Try one ton. You'll be more than pleased with the results. Petroleum Carbon lights very easily, burns with a fierce, hot flame and is practically all consumed, it leaves but very little ash. It's the most economical as well as the best fuel on the market for domestic use. Try one ton. $9 delivered to any part of the city.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, August 5, 1872.—Barn Burned: A barn belonging to Mrs. Pickering, residing near the blind institute, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday night, about midnight. The house adjoining was considerably scorched, but by the exertions of the neighbors it was saved. The barn was insured in the Madison Mutual.

Proposed Lime Works: O. L. De Forest of this city, sends us a written communication wherein he proposes to the capitalists of Janesville to organize a stock company with a capital of $20,000 for the manufacture of lime. His figures indicate a profit of fifty per cent on that sum can be made, and that the works, enlarged to the proposed capacity, will give employment to fifty men. His present lime works, valued at $5,000, he will turn in as part of the capital, leaving $15,000 to be raised on cash. The length of Mr. DeForest's communication precludes its publication, but we recommend the subject to capitalists, who can obtain all necessary facts of him.

Uncalled for Assault: One of our prominent citizens, of democratic tendencies, so far forgot himself this afternoon, in the postoffice vestibule, as to commit an assault on an elderly gentleman, because of a difference of opinion. Which is the greater sin—for a few boys to suspend a bundle of rags in the air and call it Greeley, or for a man of mature years to mutilate the countenance of a fellow being, as a punishment for a remark which he sincerely believed to be true?

Brief Items: The team used to draw the school furniture which is being removed from the high school building ran away, this morning, down the East Milwaukee street hill. A load of chairs was distributed along the route of the flight.

Cyrus Miner returned from the east on Saturday afternoon and has been confined to his bed, ever since his arrival, by sickness. He is better today.

Ex-Mayor Anson Rogers and James Van Etta started for the east, this morning. They will probably make it convenient to stop at the Buffalo races.

The report of the money order business transacted at the Janesville postoffice for the week ending August 3, is as follows: Number of orders issued, 78; amount, $1,129.74. Number of orders paid, 56; amount, $1,099.30.

with neighbor Zinn, another helpless jay; they hold their teams and argue in the middle of the way; they prove the government is wrong, and roast the idle rich; and travelers who come along must pass them in the ditch.

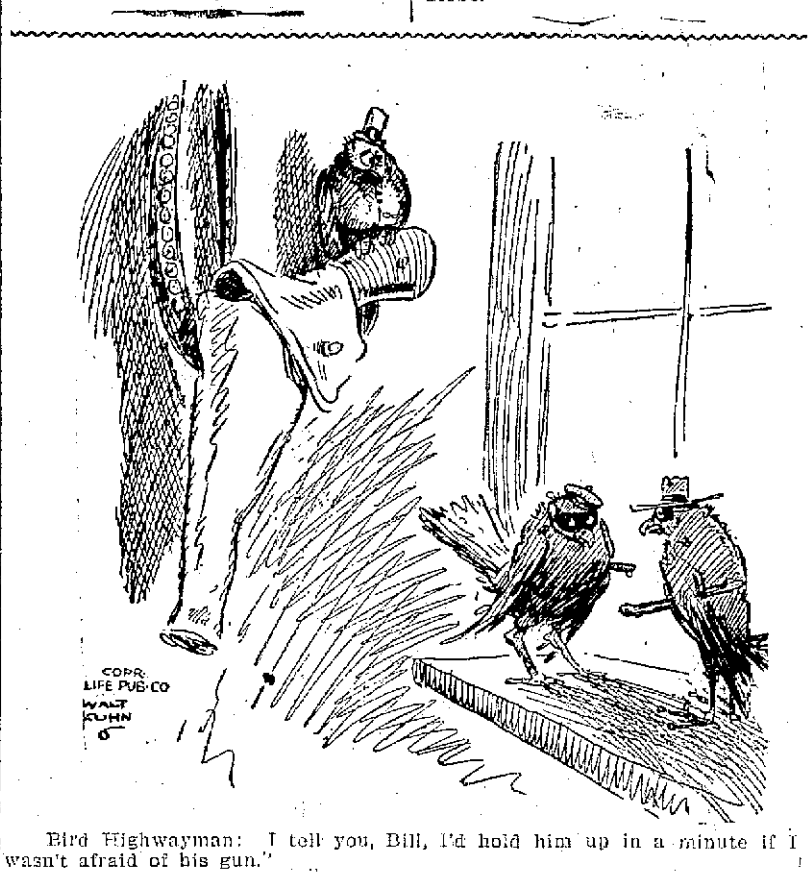

Along the village street he feels, the least less jay, by heck, and breaks off fifty-seven wheels and makes ten rigs a wreck. From left to right and back he pulls, and takes up far more space than would a herd of Durham bulls if they were in a race. In all the country out of doors the jay is causing grief; of all the grievous rubes and bores he's easily the chief, and yet our statesmen rant and rave until the welkin busts, and weapons of destruction wave before the harmless trusts. And what our country needs, I say, is less of this turmoil; the law should gather in the jay, and have him boiled in oil.

Kisses and Kisses. In Wellesley slang, a kiss administered by a man is a "dewdab." If the mixed kiss is so short, perky and inconsequential a thing as dewdab sounds, what foolish word have they for the all-feminine osculation?

Value of Cereals. When choosing cereals it is well to remember that wheat and oats furnish more useful fuel for the body than either rice or rye. Oatmeal is particularly rich in protein, but is better for winter than for summer consumption.

Our Own Troubles. When you hear a man telling about the troubles incident to his business, doesn't it seem to you that yours are ten times worse?—Atchison, Kan., Globe.

Bird Highwayman: I tell you, Bill, I'd hold him up in a minute if I wasn't afraid of his gun.

MOSQUITOES. Jersey skeeters with wicked delight stuck their bills through a roof one dark night; Then the lady inside clinched each one that she spied, And they flew with the house out of sight.

Habit That Should Be Checked. Twisting the mouth when talking is a habit pure and simple and one that you can overcome if you exercise sufficient will power. This habit makes more lines than age. Talk before a mirror and you will understand why so many lines are forming. A little piece of court plaster placed each side of the mouth will act as a constant reminder, until you have broken yourself of the habit.

Eagle Eats Monkeys. The happy eagle of Brazil feeds exclusively on monkeys.

This offers a rare opportunity to buy a new piano of high quality at a price that will make you forget all about second hand pianos. You can take one of these pianos into your home on trial and get the opinion of your most critical musical friends. Stop at store or send your address for copy of general catalog showing all styles. These instruments are strictly standard and bear no other name than Kimball. Don't wait or you may not be able to get one because when a factory discontinues a style they close out the remainder very quickly at special prices.
